MAN WITH NO NAME

Cimarron F.A. Co. introduced the Man With No Name 1851 Conversion in 38 Special. The conversion remains one of the most ordered guns in Cimarron's line. Continuing in the tradition of the spaghetti western, Cimarron brings you the Man With No Name Single Action. An accurate copy of the gun used by our nameless hero in the classic Western movies "Fist Full Of Dollars" & "For A Few Dollars More". This gun features a sterling silver snake on both sides of the grip,

1851 RICHARDS-MASON

In 1871, Colt employee Charles Richards was awarded a patent for converting Colt percussion models to breech loading cartridge revolvers. The Richards cartridge conversion was an instant success. On July 2, 1872, William Mason, another Colt employee, was awarded a patent for an improvement to the Richards model. As percussion parts ran short, the 1860 Richards-Mason barrel was changed from the profile of the earlier percussion model, to the sleek profile found on the 1871-72 Open Top. Conversion models remained popular with cowboys (many originals will be found with imprints of fence staples on the butt) even after the introduction of the 1873 Colt®. This was due to the low cost of conversion models.
